Female Genital Mutilation and Honour Based Violence

A3 Poster/ A4 Poster/ Business Card

TOGETHER WE CAN END FEMALE GENITAL
MUTILATION

All girls have the right to a life free from pain, menstrual problems and difficulties with childbirth that are caused by female genital mutilation (FGM). Female genital mutilation, female circumcision or 'cutting' may cause serious health and emotional consequences that last a lifetime. It's also illegal under UK law. You can stop it. For advice, support or to report it call the free 24 hour anonymous FGM helpline.

Could you recognise the signs of HONOUR BASED VIOLENCE

WHAT IS HONOUR BASED VIOLENCE?

Honour based violence (HBV) is a violent crime or incident which may have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family or community.

It is often linked to family members or acquaintances who mistakenly believe someone has brought shame to their family or community by doing something that is not in keeping with the traditional beliefs of their culture.

Women and girls are the most common victims of honour based violence, however it can also affect men and boys. Crimes of 'honour' do not always include violence – crimes in the name of 'honour' might include:

- Personal attacks of any kind, including physical and sexual violence
- Written or verbal threats or assaults
- Threatening or abusive phone calls, emails and instant messages
- Forced marriage (FM)
- Being taken and held against your will including sending someone back to a country from which they originally without their consent

A forced marriage is one that is carried out without the consent of both people. This is very different to an arranged marriage, which both people will have agreed to.

WHAT TO LOOK OUT FOR

Individuals facing HBV may appear anxious, depressed and emotionally withdrawn with low self-esteem. They may come to the attention of professionals for a variety of reasons including:

- Forms of communication severed between victim and friends
- Withdrawal from education or the workplace (including poor performance, absenteeism)
- Criticism of the victim for 'western' adoption of dress or make-up
- Restlessness in leaving the house or chaperoning outside the home
- Onset of depression or suicidal tendencies in an otherwise happy person.

REMEMBER THE ONE CHANCE RULE

You may only have one chance to speak to a potential victim of honour based violence and may only have one chance to save a life. If the victim is allowed to walk out of the door without support being offered, that one chance might be wasted.

MEET THE INDIVIDUAL AT RISK

Third party views from family, friends, and community members cannot be trusted in cases of FM & HBV and so it is critical to meet the child or adult at risk of FM or HBV individually and face-to-face.

THE DANGER OF INVOLVING THE FAMILY & COMMUNITY

Involving families in cases of forced marriage is dangerous. It may increase the risk of serious harm to the victim. Relatives, friends, community leaders and neighbours should not be used as interpreters or advocates - despite any reassurances from this known person.

If you come across any situation that you feel you need more advice contact the Forced Marriage Unit
Telephone: 020 7083 0151 (Mon – Fri 09.00 – 17.00)
090 7083 1500 (out of hours)
Email: fmu@fmo.gov.uk
Web: www.fmo.gov.uk/forcedmarriage

If you have reasonable cause to believe FM or HBV has occurred or will occur, this must be reported to the Police. To refer a case to the police telephone: 101
In case of an emergency always dial 999
